CARPETS!

One month ago we placed an order for 2,500 yards of Art Kidderminster Carpets. These goods whose value is well understood by carpet buyers, are now being received by us and we are daily placing new and desirable patterns before our customers. One of the leading carpet houses in New England has been selling the same goods at fifteen cents per yard advance over other makes. We propose to sell them at the same price asked by other dealers for an ordinary extra super carpet. A word to the wise is sufficient.

THE BORDEN MYSTERY.

The Hearing Resumed—Lizzie and Emma Borden Much Affected by Dr. Dolan's Testimony.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 26. The Borden hearing was resumed shortly after 10 this morning. The prisoner and her friends came into court unattended, except by the City Marshal. Lizzie walked firmly after her sister and took her seat between her two counsellors. Dr. Dolan was called and his examination was continued. The witness said the wound in Mrs. Borden's back was first discovered at the autopsy head in Oak Grove cemetery. Then came the most gruesome part of the testimony yet given and while it was going on Lizzie and Emma closed their eyes and flushed and showed much feeling. The witness said: "The bodies have been interred. The skulls were removed from the bodies by instructions from the Attorney General. The skulls were cleaned and the bodies are now buried without their heads. The skulls were photographed and are now in my possession." No member of the Borden family was informed of the removal and photographing of the skulls as far as the witness knew. Continuing, the witness said the axes and hatchets found in the cellar were given to Professor Wood but were never fitted to the wounds. He thought Mrs. Borden died from one to hours before Mr. Borden. Dr. Dolan retired after being ordered to produce all articles in his possession.

A. G. Hart, Treasurer of Union Savings Bank, testified Mr. Borden had called at the Bank in the morning of the day of the murder. He told the witness he was feeling unwell.

Charles C. Cook, real estate broker, and agent for Mr. Borden, testified he talked with Mr. Borden at length, ten days before the tragedy. Mr. Borden said to the witness he had made no will, had never said to any one there was a will.

Mrs. Caroline Kelley, who lives in the house of the Borden homestead, testified to seeing Mr. Borden coming around the house and going toward the front door She thought he had a small white package in his hand. It was then about 11.32 o'clock. Could not say he entered the house.

Dr. Dolan was recalled and produced photographs taken in the house shortly after the murder. There are five of these showing various positions of the bodies in different rooms.

THE IRON HALL.

Chief Delano Tells What Somerby is Trying to Accomplish.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26. W. E. Delano, Chief of the Order of Iron Hall in Illinois, divulged at a secret meeting held last night, just what Somerby is trying to accomplish. The meeting was called by Somerby himself, but he did not remain to attend it. Speech after speech was made denouncing Somerby in the severest terms. When Delano rose to make his speech in behalf of Somerby, he was overwhelmed with hisses. He finally managed to calm the delegates, and urged them to ask for a receiver for Illinois lodges of the Iron Hall. He said it was Somerby's desire that a receiver should be appointed in every State where the order existed. In this way, it would be easier to straighten out the affairs and give it a new lease of life. Somerby had gone to Baltimore because he believed that Maryland was the best State in which to begin his work of building up the order anew. Delano talked for an hour and when he sat down he had the delegates with him. A committee was appointed to select a man to be appointed receiver.

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS

Investigating the Deaths of John H. Lee and Fred Delaney, on the Boston & Maine.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 26. The railroad commissioners, of New Hampshire, held a session in this city to-day, to investigate the deaths of John H. Lee, who was killed on the Western division of the Boston & Maine railroad at Lee, July 12, and Fred Delaney, a freight brakeman, who was killed on the Eastern division, at Hampton Falls, that week. A large number of witnesses were examined on both sides, but no new facts other than were brought out at the inquests, were elicited. The commissioners withheld their decision.

DEVIL'S BACK.

Tug William H. Slater, of Boston, Wrecked.

Heavy Sea Prevents Wreckers from Getting Near the Vessel.

She is Fast Breaking Up and will Probably be a Total Loss.

BOSTON, Aug. 26. Tug Wm. S. Slater, Crosby, Boston, for Fort Point, Me., struck on Devil's Back at 8 o'clock last night, and sank. The Captain and crew of eight men rowed to this city in their boats.

Another Despatch.

The Slater, a two-masted iron tug, owned by the Boston Towboat Co., was en route to take a tow of barges from Fort Point to New York. It was low water when the vessel struck and she soon careened and filled. The men saved their personal effects. There was a heavy sea, and the company's wreckers were unable to get near the tug, which is breaking up, and if the storm continues will be a total loss. Her value is $25,000; insurance $18,000.

She has slid off Devil's Back in to deeper water, and all hopes of saving her have been given up.

THE WILD-EYED STRANGER.

Mysterious White-Faced Man for Whom Police Have Been Hunting.

Dr Handy's story that he had seen a white-faced, wild-eyed man in the vicinity of the Borden house on the day of the murder, fixing the time at between 10 30 and 11 o clock, has caused lots of hustling in police circles. First, Mike Graham was collared, but he proved a good alibi.

The next wild-eyed, white-faced man to appear on the scene was the man whom Joseph St Amant of Flint village refused to take to New Bedford for $4 the day of the murder On investigation he proved to be a man who went into an East-end saloon and got gloriously drunk He was not locked up because there was no reason why he should be.

The next wild-eyed, white-faced man was explained in Boston He answered the description of Dr Handy's mysterious skulker, but the doctor failed to identify him

A week ago, Joseph Lemay, of Steep Brook, called at the station and reported seeing a man in the vicinity of his farm, one day before, who looked so strange that he looked at him twice He painted a vivid picture of the man to the police who scoured the woods without success.

Last Sunday, Lemay saw the same man, and is now willing to go on the stand and swear to the story. He says he was passing through the woods, one mile from his farm on the Hatheway road, after some cows that he was going to milk, about 4 a m., when the dog began to bark, and instantly there appeared by the side of a well, a rather short, thick-set man, light-skinned, wearing a brownish mustache, nicely dressed, wearing a dark coat and vest and a pair of brownish, almost red. striped pantaloons, and laced shoes. The man was about to fire at the dog with a revolver which he drew from a hip pocket. when he discovered Lemay and desisted. He gazed steadily at Lemay, and shook at him a foot-long hatchet, on the end of the handle of which was blood. As Lemay approached, he remarked to the stranger, in French that it was very warm, but the man made no answer Then he added, also in French, "Are you tired?" and received no answer to that. Then the man turned around and started off, picking up the hatchet. This was the second time Lemay saw him.

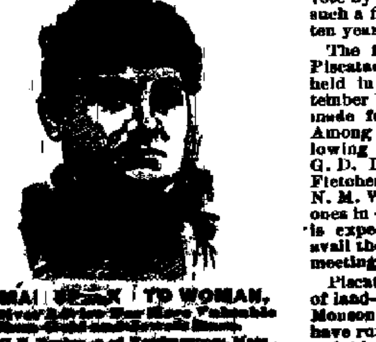

On the first occasion, in the same place, in a sort of nest made of leaves, where evidently, he had been sleeping the night before, he saw him a week ago yesterday As he came near him that time he says the man was saying, over and over, as he put or pressed his hands to his breast, "Too bad, Mrs. Borden." In telling this, Lemay repeated the words three or four times.

Mr. Lemay thinks the stranger did not see him that time. Neither did he see the stranger in the way in which he saw him last Sunday morning; then he noticed the man's shirt front, on which were four or five spots of blood. He says the man could not have been more than thirty-eight years old; that he wore a "Dip" or derby hat, which had a big cut in the crown, and he looked as if he had not shaved in a fortnight.

He told the story of his discovery to his family and to Mr. Thomas Thurston and his family, after reporting to the police, and the male members of the two families had made several excursions to the place, but have never seen the man. Mr. Lemay was armed when he met the fellow Sunday morning and seemed to have no fear. He thinks the fellow is still in the woods. The women in the neighborhood are in fear and scarcely venture out of the house except by day.

The haunt of the criminal—if such he is—is only about a quarter of a mile from Mr. Thurston's farmhouse, and his family do not enjoy the proximity They say, however, that nothing has been missed by any of the farmers which a man living in that was would be likely to take Mr. Lemay cannot judge of the man's nationality, save that he is not a Frenchman. He does not consider him insane.

The excitement revived at Steep Brook by reports of the desperate looking man having been seen again in vicinity. Those who have seen him lately say that he corresponds in description to the one who was reported to have been seen last week with a bloody hatchet in his hand and wearing a blood stained shirt. The police have made three trips to the vicinity and have searched assiduously for traces of this person, but all in vain.

MAINE MELANGE.

A Narrow Escape from Probable Drowning Accident.

Apple Crop of Aroostook Ahead of Other Seasons.

Probable Clue to Disappearance of a Sailor.

Androscoggin.

It is said that B. F. & F. I. Briggs, of Auburn, have had offers lately for Palm, the sensational son of Messenger Wilkes. It is known that a Montreal gentlemen of wealth wants the speedy fellow for a driving horse and a royal good-looker he would be in a Goddard buggy down the road Palm is trotting very fast this year and has turned a mile over Brigg's track at Maple Grove Farm, it is said, in about 2.33, which is faster than he trotted that track in the year that he made his record Palm is bred in the purple and is a commanding looking animal.

Aroostook.

Someone entered the railroad station at Fort Fairfield Saturday while depot master Clark was at dinner. Fortunately there was no money in the cash drawer at the time. The same day the same man, it is supposed, when going out from Mrs. C Burpee's (in Tyler Block) slipped unnoticed into Mrs Burpee's room and attempted to get away with a wallet which was in her bureau drawer, but was discovered and dropping the wallet, left hurriedly. That evening while F. O Wellington was at supper the same man entered his store at lower village and got away with some forty dollars He was traced to Andover, but eluded the officers there. He was captured later at Houlton

The Fort Fairfield National Bank will open for business next Monday.

Hon. James Nutting, of Perham, was in Caribou a few days ago and informed the Republican representative, that the apple crop in Aroostook, this year, is far ahead of that of any previous season Mr Nutting expects to harvest 200 barrels of apples this fall, and yet there are people who believe that apples cannot be grown in Aroostook.

The Northern Maine Regiment re-union at Blaine, last week, was very successful There were 150 veterans present The re-union of '93 will be held at Washburn

The Republicans of Caribou will have a flag raising Saturday evening at eight o'clock Among the speakers are Hon Llewellyn Powers, of Houlton, Hon Edward Wiggin, of Presque Isle, Hon. Louis C. Stearns and Hon. J. D. Teague, of Caribou.

What came very near being a serious accident occurred a few evenings ago while a party of young people were returning on the steamer Lochnagar from an excursion to Fish's Landing, say the Caribou Republican. As the boat was nearing her landing, several of the excursionists began to feel somewhat anxious on account of their running so near the dam, and began to wonder why the man at the wheel did not make his landing Not until within a very short distance of the dam was there apparently any attempt made to land, then, being in a swift current and having broken one of the tiller-ropes, the helmsman was unable to turn the boat. Seeing his predicament, he gave the order to reverse the engine, which was not done until the boat had run nearly a hundred feet, and so near the dam that the passengers in the bow of the boat could look over and see the rushing waters below. It was a moment of awful suspense, and the boat appeared a long time balanced on the swiftly running waters before it commenced to make a backward motion, and the young people were out of danger Unless precautions are taken to prevent such an occurrence in the future, the Lochnagar should be shunned.

Deputy Collector Ingersoll, at Houlton, received last week $1,000 in customs duties on sheep and lambs imported from New Brunswick at Houlton, for the week ending Aug 20

Shipped from Houlton station, over the C P. Ry., for the week ending Aug 20, the following carloads of produce Hay 4, meat 2 leather 1, sheep , miscellaneous 8, shingles 2, laths 4, lumber 12 Total, 31 cars

Knox.

The farmhouse and buildings of Daniel Mayo, in Thomaston, were destroyed by fire Thursday, including a barn full of hay, implements and grain. The furniture was saved in a damaged condition No insurance Loss $4 000, cause unknown.

Maurice Girtle, a workman in the Long Cove granite quarry, had his right leg jammed by a swinging rock on a derrick The injury was severe.

Lincoln.

There is a story going the rounds among the islands in Boothbay Harbor, concerning Capt Grover's cow on Burnt Island It is related as a fact, but belief is not compulsory It seems that the animal was attacked by a fit of loneliness, and resolved to quit her island home for a locality where there was more of her kind Accordingly she waded down to the shore and swam to Mouse Island, where she wandered around for a while, but not being satisfied with that resort she plunged once more into the sea and when next she made a landing it was on the Boothbay shore Later on, when her owner discovered her whereabouts, he decided to sell her rather than transport her back to the island for which she had shown so decided a dislike. The Gardiner Home Journal, commenting on this yarn, says the tale of the Monhegan cow that went mad at the sound of the whistling buoy, seems more credible.

Piscataquis.

The Abbot Village Manufacturing Company had recently a meeting to take into consideration the completion of the new dam commenced two years since at the lower village. The wings were thoroughly built at that time but owing to a hitch in the financial part, the work was suspended. It requires but a few dollars more to secure its completion, and that will undoubtedly be speedily subscribed. The entire privilege, including all the land necessary for the purpose, will be donated to some firm which may occupy the same for manufacturing purposes. A vote by the town is on record exempting such a firm from taxation for a term of ten years

The fifty-third annual meeting of the Piscataquis Baptist Association will be held in the Monson Baptist church September 13 to 15. Arrangements are being made for an unusually fine programme Among the speakers are included the following Rev. A. T Dunn D. D.; Rev G. D. L Pepper, D. D., Rev D. O. Fletcher, D. D ; Rev. E. M. Bartlett, Mrs. N. M. Waterbury, etc. Also well known ones in our own county and vicinity. It is expected that large delegations will avail themselves of the privilege of these meetings.

Piscatorians have taken large numbers of land-locked salmon from Lake Hebron, Monson, the present season. These fish have run unusually heavy, many of them weighing from five to seven pounds each. The salmon and trout fishing of Monson may be set down among the town's leading industries, as well as the other attrac-

Mitchell being notified, began a search for them, which led him over an extended territory but he finally captured them in a drug store on Water street When searched all but $1.50 was found upon their persons, they having made a division of it soon after it was stolen. They were let off with a reprimand, there being no one caring to press the matter further

The Eastport Sentinel says The sardine industry thus far this week, is almost at a standstill. But few of the factories have taken fish since the latter part of last week, and then in very small quantities For some unaccountable reason the bottom seems to have dropped out and "no fish running," is the report from the weirs all along shore Evidently the little fishes have gone on a vacation for the time being, let us hope that it is not for long, as it is a most decided inconvenience for all concerned

Mr and Mrs F C. Osbourne of Chicago, who have been spending a few weeks in Eastport and vicinity, while on a fishing excursion with a party of friends last Wednesday, discovered a bottle drifting near their boat, which when secured was found to contain the following note

"July 21st, 1892 Schr Coalgate bound for Grand Manan on Thursday was upset and I am on a spar in the water and expect to be drowned, if any one picks up this note please put it in the papers, the name is John Wellington of Tiperary Bay St Peers, Nfld "

Obituary

Miss Eva S Walker died in Newburgh August 10th, in the thirty fourth year of her age

She was the youngest of six children of Col A H Walker But one of these survives The loss is a bitter bereavement to the tender hearted, but oft-stricken parent in the evening of life

The departed, though in feeble health and with impaired eyesight, was unselfish amiable and anxious for the happiness of others As to her deportment and integrity, one who knew her long and knew her well, testifies, "Eva's life has been spotless" Of the other trait, the same witness says of the life of the departed "She was the most conscientious child I ever knew "

Such a life, if lived to the end would prepare one for a peaceful, if not a triumphant death. It did in this case Though her body was frail, her mind perhaps clouded, and the king of terrors near, she shrank not, but calmly assured friends that she was ready to depart and left earth to die no more Rest fair sleeper, and may we meet in the morning P

Democratic Juggling.

Our Democratic friends had a meeting in this city Friday evening and presented their candidate for Governor and a Boston free trader as the orators of the occasion. Mr. Johnson spoke first following about the same line of argument that he has adopted another places, but since he has a license campaign long enough this fact will get pounded into their heads.

The Boston gentleman is a very glib talker, but his free trade fallacies, although dispensed with a good deal of oratorical effect, still remain fallacies just the same. His attempt to show that free trade is making great headway among the educated youth of the country is not borne out by the fact. The class that graduated from Yale this year contained forty-two free traders and eighty-three protectionists, or two to one in favor of protection. Moreover President Eliot, of Harvard College, says that "most of our students are Republicans." The tin plate duty came in for the usual attention and it was charged that the duty was a tax upon the poor man, but the speaker knows, if he knows anything about the subject, that the retail price of tin ware has not advanced since the passage of the McKinley tariff, so that his alleged argument falls to the ground. The tin plate industry is growing and in a few years will prove the same tumbling block in the path of free traders as the steel rail industry, the plate glass industry, or any of the other industries that have been established in this country under a protective tariff in spite of Democratic opposition.

Free Trade Desperation.

The very blunt statements in the British press declaring opposition to the McKinley tariff because it has had the effect of restricting English industry, while gratifying to the free trader in this country, have proved somewhat troublesome campaign documents. Whether the free trade managers on this side have informed their allies on the other side that too much frankness would not do just at this time, we are unable to state, but it is a fact that the London Spectator takes a different tack and pretends that it hopes to see the Cleveland free trade policy successful in this country on the ground that "before a generation has passed away the United States, not England, will be the most prosperous of the workshops of the world."

The most astonishing thing in connection with this article in the London paper is that it is copied into the New York Herald, seemingly with the idea that intelligent people can be caught, with such chaff. If the adoption of free trade in this country would produce the results set forth in the Spectator that paper would be the last to urge the change. Such disinterested generosity as this is not a striking characteristic of John Bull. He stands ready to take everything in sight and was never known to voluntarily surrender any advantage. This country had to fight for an independence, which, if we are to accept the statement of the London paper, was, from a commercial standpoint, the very thing England should have forced upon us.

The proposition as stated in the Spectator is absurd on the face of it. As a matter of fact the United States is to-day the most "prosperous of the workshops of the world" and the year just closed, the first under the new tariff, has been the most prosperous in the history of the country. There has been an increase in our foreign commerce of $210,540,510, as compared with 1890, and an increase of $400,357,584 over the annual average of the ten years prior to 1891. For the first time in our history our exports have exceeded a billion of dollars. The exports of manufactures in 1892, were $8,384,357 in excess of like exports in 1890, and $39,906,394 in excess of the annual average value of the ten years prior to 1891. Having developed the largest foreign trade in the history of the country under the beneficial effects of the tariff, the intelligent reader is able to judge of the sincerity of the English paper that urges us to abandon all of this in order to increase our "prosperity." It is the old fable of the wolf and the lamb over again.

In addition to the foregoing statistics it must not be overlooked that we pay our workingmen double the wages paid in England, that in no other nation on the face of the earth do the workingmen enjoy the comforts that they have here, that they are better housed, better clothed and better fed than in any other country, and that while the tendency in this country is toward higher wages and a decreased cost in the living expenses, the tendency in England is toward lower wages and an increased cost in the living expenses. That these facts are well understood by the foreign workingmen is shown by the eagerness with which they come to this country the moment they can save up money enough to pay for their trip across.

The Herald in copying the article from the Spectator seems to have absorbed the spirit of demagogism as it remarks

Not only is protection a bar to the great advantages pointed out by our English contemporary, but it is the source of enormous evils. All these strikes, for example, are caused by our Chinese wall tariff. Workmen strike because they see protected manufacturers making millions, and they want to get some of it. For example, protection piled up profits for Carnegie and Frick and poured money into their pockets, but gave nothing to their employes. Is it any wonder that the latter struck for fair wages?

There seems to be but one explanation for this ridiculous statement and that is the desperation of the Democratic cause. Of course the Herald knows better, but it has evidently reached the conclusion that the only hope of the Democratic party is an appeal to the prejudices of the people. From the statistics gathered for the British Parliament, and presented in both houses, it was shown that strikes prevail to a greater extent and are more disastrous in Great Britain than in the United States, notwithstanding the fact that we have nearly doubled the population. As to the Homestead strike the Herald is made ridiculous by the action of its own party. The Democrats rushed down there to investigate with the expectation of securing some material against the tariff, but the report of the committee was carefully suppressed. The reason for this was that they found the material was in favor of the protectionists. The members of the committee themselves stated that they never heard of such high wages as prevailed at Homestead. The proposed scale did not affect over 300 of the men, and did not touch the wages of a man earning less than $4.50 a day.

In Leeds, a great manufacturing centre of free trade England, with a population of over 200,000, not a workman owns the home in which he lives, while in Homestead over 60 per cent. of the workmen own their homes. The New York World gave a very picturesque description of the home of one of the leaders of the strike, a home owned and for [illegible] membered that the X has to be placed against the name of the party and not opposite the Republican candidate for Governor, whose name will head the ticket, because in the latter case the voter will have thrown a ballot for the Governor and for no other candidate on the ticket. Between now and election day let the Republicans get this one mark firmly fixed in their mind and vote accordingly.

WHAT A BOSTON PREACHER SAYS OF LIFE INSURANCE.

The Rev. A. S. Gumbart, the popular pastor of the Dudley Street Baptist Church, preached last Sunday evening on "Life Insurance as a Moral Obligation." Among other things he said

American life insurance companies have already paid to 500,000 families of deceased members the enormous sum of $685,000,000. The death losses paid by insurance companies in Massachusetts for the past year were over $6,000,000. We cannot separate the financial from the moral obligation which a man owes to his posterity. A financial obligation is always a moral obligation. The best place to purchase a financial obligation in the shape of a life policy, is with

Chief of Police and Police Commissioners.

The following ordinance has been enacted by the City Council and approved, viz

Section 1 BE IT ORDAINED that each and every City Ordinance, and sections of ordinances of the City of Bangor, in which the term City Marshal is used, be each and every of them hereby amended by striking out from, wherever it may occur, the words "City Marshal" and inserting in place thereof the words "Chief of Police," so that as amended, each of said ordinances and sections of ordinances shall read "Chief of Police" in all places where it now reads "City Marshal."

Section 2 The name of the head of the police force of the City of Bangor, who has heretofore been called and known as City Marshal, is hereby changed to Chief of Police, and hereafter the head of the police force of the City of Bangor shall be known and called Chief of Police of the City of Bangor

Section 3 The Police Examining Board of the City of Bangor, in addition to the duties prescribed for them as such examining board, shall have power to investigate and report on any and all matters that may hereafter be referred to them by the mayor or the mayor and aldermen, and prescribe the uniform and equipments that shall be worn by the police and night watch, and special policemen, and in all matters reported to them for investigation, and all actions relating to the discipline of the police force, uniform and equipments, and general deportment, shall be by said board reported in writing to the mayor, for the information of the mayor and aldermen And said Police Examining Board shall, at the close of each municipal year, make a written report of all matters relating to their department, and such recommendations as in their judgment will advance the best interests of the city of Bangor and the police department thereof

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the City Clerk to notify the Secretary of the Police Examining Board of the City of Bangor, in writing, of any vacancies that may exist from time to time upon the police force, and each notice shall be sent not later than ten days after such vacancy occurs, to the end that said Police Examining Board may within the required time file with the Clerk the record of the examination of the necessary number of candidates for appointment, to the end that the Mayor may fill such vacancies by a selection therefrom

Section 5 In the performance of all duties other than those prescribed by Chapter 569, Private and Special Laws of 1889, the Police Examining Board of the City of Bangor shall be known and called the Police Commissioners of Bangor And said Police Commissioners may make and report to the mayor and aldermen for approval such rules as in their judgment will advance the efficiency of the police force of Bangor, and attach penalties for the violation of such rules,—PROVIDED always that nothing in this ordinance and the rules hereafter adopted shall be construed to authorize said Police Commissioners to interfere in any way with any policeman or watchman while on duty under the direction of the Chief of Police or Captain of the Night Watch other than to report any violation of rules, and if of sufficient importance request that such policeman or watchman may be directed to appear before the Police Commissioners at a time and place to be stated, which shall be a time other than during that policeman or watchman's hours of duty, and said Police Commissioners shall make a written report to the Mayor of their doings at any of such hearings, for the information of the Mayor and Aldermen

The Latest in Shoes.

Are you looking for something exceedingly handsome and serviceable in Shoe Leather? If you are you will look a long time before you will find anything that matches our Stetson's Hand Sewed Goods for Gentlemen.

It may be easy enough to match it in some respects it is just about impossible to match it in all. We don't pretend to be prophets, but we are pretty near right when we predict that it is unquestionably destined to be the most successful shoe of the season. No shoe is better made, no shoe has a finer finish, no shoe has better material in it and no shoe that we know of will give greater satisfaction.

ENTHUSIASTIC REPUBLICANS.

A Remarkable Gathering at Old Town Friday Evening.

A Rally Which Augurs Well for Success at the Polls.

[Special Despatch to Whig and Courier.]

OLD TOWN, Aug. 26. The Republicans of Old Town and vicinity held a magnificent rally here to-night. The wide-awake Republicans in this section showed themselves fully alive to the situation and the result was a rousing rally and a most enthusiastic gathering.

The speakers of the evening, Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Congressman Boutelle, were met at the depot by Chairman Elkins, of the City Committee, President Gray, of the Republican Club, Mr. J. W. Harmon and Capt. Beattie, of the Water Power Company, and escorted to the residence of Hon. A. O Brown, where they and Mr. Henry E. Riepke, of Pawtucket, R. I., president of the State Republican League, were entertained. The meeting was a remarkable one The on the floor and galleries with a splendid audience.

The stage had been beautifully decorated for the occasion by the ladies with flowers and plants and a large floral harp was hung in the center.

Chairman Elkins called the assemblage to order and Mr. N. C. McCausland was called upon to preside. Twenty vice presidents from towns in the neighborhood occupied seats on the platform.

Gen. Grosvenor led with a fine speech which was warmly applauded. He made many telling points and was attentively listened to.

He was followed by Congressman Boutelle, who was given an enthusiastic reception and spoke about an hour. The meeting adjourned with rounds of cheers. It was one of the best rallies held here for a long time and augurs well for success at the polls.

DELIGHTFUL PICNIC

Clam Bake by the Shores of Beautiful Penobscot Bay.

CAMDEN, Aug. 26. The great clam bake picnic of the season was given today at Sherman's Point by Dr. O. G. Sherman and Hon. J. B. Stearns, of Camden, assisted by Miss Alice Lee, of Boston, and Mrs. A. E. Waldron, of Chicago. A table one hundred and five feet long was spread in the spruce grove by the shore of Penobscot bay and some two hundred guests were present, among them being James A Wright and a party of eleven, of Philadelphia, John J. Herrick, Esq., and family. Miss Jane Brown Fuller, daughter of the Chief Justice, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Mumford, Reuben Leland and family, Mrs. A. M. Judson and family, of New York, and the family of William A. French, of Boston. Everybody pronounced it a most delightful time.

RALLY AT GARDINER.

Enthusiastic Republicans Addressed by Gen. Cleaves and Senator Hale.

GARDINER, Aug. 26. The Republicans opened the campaign here to-night by throwing to the breeze a flag bearing the names of Harrison and Reid, and holding a rally at the Opera House. A large audience was addressed by Senator Eugene Hale, of Ellsworth, and Gen. Henry B. Cleaves, of Portland, the candidate for Governor. Both gentlemen made able speeches and were frequently interrupted by enthusiastic applause.

Reception on [illegible] and [illegible] Admiral Gherardi.

Coaching Parties, Some Valuable Jewels, etc.

[Special Correspondence Whig and Courier.

BAR HARBOR, Aug. 26. Nothing could exceed the beauty of the scene of Tuesday afternoon, when nearly all of Bar Harbor's summer population flocked to Neal & Shaw's wharf, where boats were in readiness to take the guests to the Philadelphia, to the reception arranged by Admiral Gherardi and his staff. The day was perfect, the ladies had donned their most becoming attire; the national colors floated from every possible point, and added to the beauty of the magnificent warship. Handsome officers in full naval uniform promenaded the spotless decks with Bar Harbor belles and the band played its liveliest waltzes.

The admiral received each arrival by a cordial grasp of the hand from his station at the head of the stairway on the starboard side and in the officers' cabin the gallant cadets dispensed generous hospitality. From their quarters the ship's crew viewed the scene and made a pleasant background to the picture, with their jaunty rig and sunburned faces. There were nearly 800 guests at the reception which was the event of the week and one of the leading events of the season.

Secretary Tracy entertained a large party of friends at dinner in the evening on board the Dolphin and as the guests left the search lights made an and shone upon the houses where the officers had been entertained so royally during their stay here. The Philadelphia, Concord and Vesuvius left the harbor late that night. The Dolphin will stay a while longer.

The mid-summer festival arranged by the ladies of the Mt. Desert Canoe Club on Monday was a success in every particular as all things are there. Small boats conveyed the guests from the wharves to the Rodick's Island where the house is situated in the the midst of clustering pines and facing the western bay.

Rows of gay lanterns marked the path from the shore and encircled the piazza where the supper was served, the interior being used for the dancing. Over the stone fire-place hung a canoe filled with trailing vines and flowers, and this with the lanterns was the only decoration. Mrs. Henry E. Drayton, Mrs. John Biddle Porter, Mrs. S. Weir Mitchell, Mrs. Samuel Shober, Mrs. Andrew Gray, of Philadelphia, were among those who helped to make the evening all that could be desired.

Mrs. William Harmor, of Philadelphia, led the cotillion with Mr. C. S. Matthews, at a German given by Mrs. Nathan Matthews, of Boston, Monday night. Mrs. Harmor

Never Looked Lovelier.

Her gown was of white mull, richly embroidered with rose buds in their natural colors, draped over white satin. The bodice was sleeveless and ornamented with thread lace and diamonds. Mrs Harmor was given a dinner on the Philadelphia, just previous to its departure, and on Sunday morning there was a breakfast party arranged in her honor on the Vesuvius. The officers were entertained at the Shore cottage on Wednesday evening.

The elegant tally-ho coach owned by Mr. A. Mercer Biddle, of Philadelphia, arrived with a party early in the week having driven the whole distance. Mrs. Biddle, Miss Pendleton, Miss Scott, Miss Grubb, Mr. Edward Browning and Mr. Charles F. Henry made up the merry company who left Philadelphia July 4th. They made frequent stops and as the weather was for the most part delightful they enjoyed the novelty of the trip. They are registered at the Malvern where Mr. Biddle has been for some time.

Another Coaching Party

will start on a trip through the northern part of Maine and Canada early Monday morning.

The ball at the Louisburg on Tuesday night was preceded by a large number of dinner parties which seem to be the order of the day this summer. Among those who had guests at dinner were Mrs. C. T. Winthrop, Mrs. J. H. King, Mrs. J. E. Davis and Mrs. H. F. Dimock. The parlors were decorated by florist Moses who grouped tropical plants in the alcoves and gladioli in the fire-places with fine effect. The wall and doors were hung with Oriental draperies and Spanish brocades with huge Indian fans here and there. The Orpheus Musical Club furnished music for the dancing which was enjoyed by a large company.

A tea was given by Mrs. Frederick Rhinelander Jones last Sunday for her guest, Mrs. Rogers, of New York. Mavroyeni Bey, the Turkish minister, Secretary Tracy, Mrs. George Place and Mrs. Samuel Colgate, were among the guests.

So great was the success of the tableaux at the Grand Central Hotel last week that they were repeated to-night at the Kebo Valley Club. Every seat was taken and the crush was almost as great as at the initial performance. A minuet and were a pleasing finish to the programme. Every event of this sort emphasizes the great need of some sort of a place where entertainments may be held in the village centre. Very few people would care to walk to Kebo and the cost of hiring a carriage three or four times a week amounts to considerable in the course of the season. The question of a casino is a favorite subject of conversation. Next to it in importance is the gang of burglars which is certainly hereabouts. On Sunday night Chatwold, the beautiful cottage occupied by Hon. A. Bleecker Banks and his family, of Albany, was entered.

All the solid silver was stolen and a large quantity of plated ware was mutilated in the effort to ascertain if it was genuine. As in the robberies of the early summer, the police have no clue to the thieves.

Mrs. Edmund Russell, of New York, who has been giving a course of lectures on culture, dress, etc., continued her talks on Friday last at the residence of Mrs. LeBeau, where her subject was jewels. So great is the value of Mrs. Russell's collection that she was guarded while going to and from the lecture and a detective watched the whole assembly of ladies every minute. It was rather to an observer, but the lecturer and most of her listeners took it very seriously.

Mr. Charles William Bergner, of Philadelphia, who has been spending the season at the Louisburg with his family, has purchased the pretty Cochrane cottage on the Cliffs, which he will renovate and occupy next year.

Mr. Clark Merchant is another well known Philadelphian who has announced his intention of passing next season in Bar Harbor.

AN AWFUL DISASTER.

Explosion Causes a Fire in a Mine in Wales.

One Hundred and Fifty Men at Work at the Time.

Scores of Lives Will Undoubtedly be Lost There.

LONDON, Aug. 26. An explosion occurred this morning in Park Slip coal pit near Bridgeden, Glamorganshire, Wales, while 150 men were in the mine. At six this evening the rescuing party ascended to the surface bearing two men whom they found near the bottom of the pit. Both were badly burned and unconscious.

They evidently inhaled fire and death will surely follow. Shortly after the men were brought up the flames from the burning pit ascended and set fire to the structure at the pit head. When the flames issued from the pit all hope was abandoned.

Those who escaped death in the explosion have certainly been suffocated and burned to death.

The disaster was of the worst in the mining district for many years.

THE BORDEN HEARING.

Lizzie Borden Getting Nervous—Story of Quarrel.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 26. An attempt was made by Mr. Jennings to-day to obtain an affidavit from Matron Reagan pronouncing false the story that she heard Lizzie and Emma Borden quarreling. Mrs. Reagan said she was willing to sign the affidavit if Marshal allowed her, but he refused.

Two policemen and a reporter will make affidavits that Mrs. Reagan said the sisters quarrelled and Lizzie accused Emma of giving her away. During the afternoon session Lizzie Borden appeared to be using more than ordinary efforts to maintain her composure.

It was evident that the strain was beginning to tell upon her wonderful nerve. John V. Morse testified to being at the Borden house before and after the murder.

Mr. Borden had told witness he made a will. He said something about some bequests. Bridget Sullivan, the servant girl, was called and was still on the stand when court adjourned at 5 P. M.

A Maine Manufacturer Abandons Democracy,

And Comes Out For Republican Protection.

DEXTER, Me., Aug. 16, 1892.

Editor Whig and Courier:

John R. Greenwood, Esq., the well known woolen manufacturer of Dexter, and who runs three large mills there, has come out square for protection and the Republican party. He says it is a matter of English Johnny cake or American pie and he having once tasted the cake prefers the pie. He declares that the Democratic platform shows clearly where the party stands and that absolute free trade for the first time openly avowed by them drives him out of the party. L.

AMUSEMENTS.

Thomas E. Shea in "Barred Out."

The Thomas E. Shea company gave "Barred Out" at the Opera House last night and the audience was again large. Mr. Shea has previously appeared here in the role of "Eric Marmaduke," and his portrayal was fully up to the standard of former acting. Miss Stahl gave an excellent portrayal of the role of "Vida Carolin," as did Miss Faust that of "Uncle." Mr. Hewit's "Black Shane" was taken with strong effect. Mr. McAuliff's songs again received several recalls.

This evening the engagement will be concluded with the presentation of "Tangled-Up," or "Our Strategists."

12 P. M.

Jennie Yeaman's musical comedy "12 P. M.," will be produced at the Opera House Monday and Tuesday evenings, August 29 and 30. The comedy gives a good opportunity for the display of Miss Yeaman's remarkable versatility and ability. The story of the piece is said to be complete, interesting and amusing, and the star is said to be surrounded in the Frank Williams Comedy Company, by a fine support. It includes Mr. Alf Thompson, Mr. Dan Hart, Mr. Ned Monroe, Mr. William Mack, Mr. Richard Hunt, Miss Reno, Miss LeVerde, Miss Murray, Miss Whittemore and Miss McGinty. During the second act there are a dozen novel effects. There are graceful dances, catchy songs, funny situations and dramatic scenes throughout the play.

"The Two Sisters."

This play, written by Denman Thompson, and George W. Ryer, which has been favorably received here before, will be produced at the Opera House by the original company on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evenings of next week. The sale of seats will open on Monday morning. The Cleveland, Ohio. Leader, says:

"The Two Sisters" play and company, may be classed as the acme of realism. The entertaining things outside of the drama, the singing by an excellent quartette, the whistling bootblack, the chorus by the company, and the colored minstrel and the funny episodes following each other with such astonishing rapidity. Indeed it will be very strange if the play does not become immensely popular at once.

Sunday Services.

St. John's Episcopal church, Rev. John McGaw Foster, rector. Lay reading at 10.30 A. M.

The ladies of the Crusade will have charge of the devotional service in the jail Sunday morning. Services commence promptly at nine o'clock.

The usual Gospel temperance meeting will be held in the Crusade parlors, Franklin street, Sunday evening at half past seven o'clock. All are cordially invited.

But the Influence Will be Continued and Widespread

For the Good that Christian Endeavorers Work For.

Closing Day of the Maine Y. P. S. C. E. State Convention.

At 8.30 Friday morning a goodly number of the Christian Endeavorers gathered in the First Parish church for a prayer meeting to open the exercises of the last day of their State Convention. General Secretary R. A. Jordan, of the Y. M. C. A., was the leader and the service was of an impressive and fitting nature.

At 8.30 A. M. a large audience had assembled in the church for the closing session of the convention. The singing of "Onward Christian Soldier," by the congregation and prayer by Rev. Mr. Freeman of Bridgton, came first, and then President Foss announced a change of programme. Under the head of papers on the three elements of the pledge, a paper by Mr. E. E. Cole, of Foxcroft, on "The Support of Church Services," was read by Mr. E. L. Sampson, of Foxcroft. The subject was treated ably and the paper was one of much practical value.

An "open parliament" in "Successful Methods of Committee Work" was led by Mr. H. M. Prentiss, of Brewer, in a capable manner and the service was one that brought out many good suggestions for the committees and illustrations of work that had been done were given. After this and singing, Mrs. Eveleth, a returned missionary from India, and Mrs. Ayres, who has worked in Chinese missions, each gave a short talk, telling of their experience in the far away lands and incidents in connection with their work.

Rev. Mr. Lamb gave a solo and Rev C. D. Crane, of Newcastle, was called on and presented his paper on "How to Select Officers and Committees." He said we cannot get the ideal committee but must use the material we have. Use a business principle and exercise the greatest care in getting the right person in the right place Choose according to ability and fitness, and choose those who have life, push and energy. This excellent discourse was followed by singing and a paper by F. W. Chase, of Belfast, president of Waldo County Union, on "Private Devotion," one of the elements of the pledge. It treated of the importance of private devotion and said that prayer is the key that unlocks the storehouse of God's love. The subject was ably handled by Mr. Chase.

Mr. F. L. Cook, of Houlton, president of Aroostook Union, was not present, but his paper on "Public Confession," also an element of the pledge, was read by Mr. Harry Callison, of Houlton. The great benefits and other features of public confession were spoken of and the matter was made very interesting. After singing by the audience Prof. F. B Denio, of the Bangor Theological Seminary, was introduced to deliver an address on "The Claims of the Ministry on Young Men"

He said there is no better claiming ground for the ministry than in the ranks of the Christian Endeavor society In one sense we are all ministers, ministers of Christ in whatever calling he has placed us, but the minister we generally think of is the evangelist, the preacher and the teacher. It is Christ who has a claim on us and it is for you to do what He sees is best for you. In obeying Him we receive the greatest power and we know His call through the ministration of the spirit.

Preaching is not the only work of the minister. The power that goes with what he says in the pulpit comes from what his life is outside of it. Pastoral duties are many sided and churches are finding that it is not the brilliant speaker who is needed so much as the active, working, teaching man. Teaching is the highest function of the minister. The ministry is the place for heroes. The ministry has claims because of the scarcity of ministers, more are needed, and the claim is a call to be as good, and as well prepared a minister as you can be. Young men you are all needed where you can exert every atom of energy to make the gospel of Jesus Christ known.

At the close of this feeling address and powerful appeal, Rev. G. D. Lindsay offered prayer.

Rev. W. S. Ayrers, of the same city, was the next speaker and his theme was "Echoes of the New York Convention" He spoke at length in regard to this, the largest of all the Christian Endeavor conventions, that took New York by storm and that let so many people know of the existence and power and quality of the Y. P. S. C. E. He referred to the mighty inspiration that could be drawn from it, what it had done, spiritually, socially and politically and treated of other ideas brought up by the thoughts of the immense gathering and its doings.

Rev. Mr. Ayres is a young man, but has control of all the arts of oratory, and thrilled his hearers with his words. After more singing Rev. Jesse McPherson, of Winthrop, was introduced and delivered the last address of the convention. His subject was "Work of the Holy Spirit." He said the inspiration we want is that which comes from the direct energies of the heart. He referred to the work of the Holy Spirit as that of Jesus Christ, told how God guides and helps. There is a light in the Bible that can only be got by the aid of the Holy Spirit.

The Holy Ghost has the right of way and makes the life of the church, of the Sunday School and of the Christian Endeavor Society. Rev. Mr. McPherson spoke of its power and said that we are not fit for our life work until we have received inducement by the Spirit of God. He related how Moody and other famous evangelists received the annointing of the Holy Ghost and said that it was not only for them to have, but for us also. He dilated on the importance of this point and closed with a reference to the Holy Spirit as a comforter. His was an appropriate subject for the closing address and he treated it feelingly and with words that went right to the hearts of his listeners.

Rev. Mr. Lamb then sang "The Dying Christian." President Foss announced that the convention would close in a few

The "grand opening" of the campaign by the Democrats has come and gone. The meeting announced for Thursday night but postponed to last night when it was found that the Republicans were to hold a rally on the former evening, came off, and their great guns, Charles F. Johnson, Esq., of Waterville, the Democratic candidate for Governor, and Harvey N. Shepard, Esq., of Boston, the Massachusetts Mugwump, were there and spoke their little pieces. The night was perfect, a clear sky and bright moon taking place of the down pouring rain which fell on Thursday night, but the results were in no wise such as should naturally follow such a change of conditions. The Cleveland Cadets, twenty-eight strong, with torches, headed by the Bangor Band escorted the speakers from the Penobscot Exchange to The Norombega.

Though well filled, the hall did not contain as many as on the previous night, and not more than one-half, or at most two-thirds as many voters, including both Democrats and Republicans, who were drawn by curiosity.

John R. Mason, Esq., presided and introduced Mr. Johnson as the first speaker of the evening. Mr. Johnson said that the young Democrats did not intend to let their flag trail in the dust without doing all in their power to avert such a calamity, his words and manner indicating that he saw that the flag must trail.

He began by anticipating great results from the Australian ballot and then went on to speak of the tariff question, which he said was for the benefit of the few rich manufacturers and not for the laboring man. He endeavored to make a point by saying that the free list included "acorns and diamonds, not a great boon to the poor." He struggled awhile with this subject and then said it would be fully discussed by the speaker who was to follow him, a man formerly a Republican but who has made the question of tariff reform a study and who, "with the majority of the scholars and educated men of Massachusetts found his place was in the Democratic party," a reminder of what Mr. Reed said Thursday night that those who found themselves unable to keep pace with the progress of the Republican party dropped behind and found themselves in the front rank of the Democratic party, an assertion which was well illustrated by the array of gentlemen who occupied seats on the platform.

He next took up the question of State expenditures and increase of salaries which has been going the rounds of the Democratic press and been the theme of Democratic speakers despite the complete explosion of the fallacy, or more correctly the lie, which has been made from the records of the Treasury Department. He devoted some time to this subject and then turned to that burning question with the Democrats, the prohibitory law and the constitutional amendment. He claimed that the Republican party had used the law to "frighten voters into voting the Republican ticket" and said that "we intend to make honesty superior to any pretense of virtue." They want, he said, to re-submit the amendment to the people and want them to give their opinion as to whether it has been a success. He believed in local option and believed that laws could be enacted which would be more effective in the cause of temperance. He believed his own reason and his own conscience to be superior to public opinion.

He then referred to Grover Cleveland but his mention of the name brought forth no applause. He told how he was defeated four years ago "because of his honesty," but, said he, "truth crushed to earth shall rise again," and so predicted a "rising" next November. He closed by an appeal to the voters of Maine to follow the example of Massachusetts. After a selection by the band, Harvey N. Shepard, of Boston, was introduced. He took up the questions of the tariff and made some wonderful statements relative thereto, but which will not, as the saying is, "hold water" as although they were presented in a most specious and deceptive manner, they were the merest fallacies, as was plainly evident to many well informed listeners. They were of the same character as those retailed by the "fish pedlars" of Massachusetts two years ago. His statements regarding the falling off of the farming interests in Massachusetts, with nothing of the increase of the manufacturing industries was truly amusing.

No Democrat can make a speech without assailing the tariff on tin and the speaker did not neglect his opportunity and pointed out the "terrible injustice" of the rebate allowed on tins containing oil exported by that great monopoly, the Standard Oil Company, but neglected to say that at the head and front of that monopoly were such men as W. C. Whitney, et. al. He then went into the decline of the shipping industry in a flowery speech of glittering generalities, but in which he showed an ignorance, or an avoidance of the true facts of the case, worthy of a Democratic stump orator "to the manor born." He spoke for nearly an hour, but his audience were not equal to the strain and the seats rapidly emptied before he concluded.

When he was done three cheers were called for Grover Cleveland, the next President, but they would have been a failure if the band had not come to the relief.

Three more were given for "the next Governor," in the same way and the meeting adjourned.

Maine Central Excursions.

There will be three excursions over the Maine Central to-morrow and a large number from this city and vicinity will doubtless go. The excursion to Bar Harbor by special trains will take people from Waterville and intermediate points and Foxcroft and intermediate points, and many have made arrangements to go. The rates of fare are very low and the preparations by the railroad company such as will enable the excursionists to go and come with the utmost convenience.

An excursion will also be run over the Maine Central to the campground at Etna, where camp-meeting is in progress and it is expected that there will be a big crowd there to-morrow. A third excursion will go to Foxcroft, where another camp-meeting is being held and many are intending to visit that place also.

When Four Months Old She Began to Live Upon Lactated Food.

Aged Grandmother Would Have Starved But for the Same Nourishment.

Lactated food has been in such demand this summer that some of the drug stores have been almost unable to get enough of it.

With all the hue and cry in some cities, occasioned by the discovery of adulterations in milk, the advice has generally been given by physicians for mothers to feed their little ones as much as possible upon lactated food.

As some one has aptly put it, lactated food is as "natural" as hunger. It is the most perfect substitute known for mother's milk. It is prepared with exacting care under the supervision of Professor Boynton of Vermont University, and is recommended by the physicians of all schools as the best possible diet for infants and invalids.

ALICE PHILBRICK.

The newspapers have had a great deal to say on the subject recently, and the following instructive statement of Mrs. Amy J. Philbrick of Beverly, Mass., appears among many more unsolicited testimonials of its kind:

"When my baby was four months old she seemed to need something more substantial than natural food, and I gave her lactated food for the last five months. She is just a lovely babe, has had perfect health all through dog-days and all that wretched damp weather we had just before dog-days. No threatening of bowel trouble or the slightest sign of anything wrong. She has cut four teeth and two more are nearly through. We don't ask for anything better.

"It was for my mother, seventy-three years old, and down with a worn-out stomach and general debility, for whom I got the first package; she believes she should have starved to death without it. Many a day she has lived wholly on the gruel made from it, her stomach refusing any ordinary food.

"I have bought altogether six dollar boxes, one twenty-five cent box and one hospital size."

TORMENTING ITCHING

Sores All Over Her Body. Suffering Endless. Doctor Useless. Cured in 4 Weeks by Cuticura.

Your most valuable CUTICURA REMEDIES have done my little girl so much good that I feel like saying this for the benefit of those who are troubled with skin disease. She was troubled with itching, burning sores. When I took her to the doctor the first time, he called it the Italian itch, and said he would cure her in two weeks. When the two weeks were up, he called it eczema, and in that time she was worse than before. He doctored her for three months, and she was so bad that we did not know what to do. He did not do her any good. I saw the advertisement of CUTICURA REMEDIES in the paper, and I said to my wife, "I am going to try them." Mind what I say, she was so thick with sores that we had to soak her clothes to take them off. Itch! there was no end to it. She had it all over her body, back, legs, arms, in between her fingers. She did not have it on her head. But after taking your CUTICURA REMEDIES for two weeks the itch stopped, and in four weeks the sores were all gone. I enclose her portrait. I am more than pleased with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, as they speedily cured my daughter, and if anybody asks me about your remedies, I will uphold them wherever I go. CHARLES M. GRONEL, Conshohocken, Montgomery County, Pa.

Why Suffer One Moment

From torturing and disfiguring skin diseases, when a single application of the CUTICURA REMEDIES will, in the great majority of cases, afford instant relief in the most agonizing of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, pimply, and blotchy skin, scalp and blood diseases, with loss of hair, and point to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure.

Sold everywhere. Price, CUTICURA, 50c.; SOAP, 25c.; RESOLVENT, $1. Prepared by the POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

Brewer Branch of the Iron Hall held a meeting Thursday evening and discussed the order's situation and the question as to what this local branch should do. It was decided to wait until the receiver recently appointed was heard from before taking action in regard to the disposal of the reserve fund, amounting to $800 or $1000.

The large numbers of Brewer people who have attended the sessions of the Y. P. S. C. E. State Convention in Bangor during the past few days, have thoroughly enjoyed them all, and have derived much profit from them. It was a great convention, the largest the State Union has ever held, and its effects will be far reaching.

SHE BREAKS THE RECORD.

The Inman Liner City of New York's Fast Time to Queenstown.

The Inman Line steamer City of New York, Capt. Arthur W. Lewis, has established a new record for the trip from New York to Queenstown, her time being 5 days, 19 hours and 57 minutes. The best previous time was 5 days, 21 hours and 8 minutes, made by the White Star Liner Teutonic in October, 1891.

The City of New York sailed on August 17, passing Sandy Hook at 2.49 P. M., and cleared the lightship which marks the extreme easterly end of the bar at 3 P. M. Her daily runs were 394, 467, 474, 460, 475, 468 and 76 knots, making in all 2,814 knots, an average of 20.12 knots per hour. Brow Head was passed at 1 P. M., making the voyage from Sandy Hook Lightship 5 days and 7 hours. She arrived at Queenstown at 3.57 P. M., making the entire run to Queenstown in 5 days, 19 hours and 57 minutes. This is the fastest east-bound voyage.

The two celebrated Inman Line sister ships, the City of Paris and the City of New York, now hold the record for both the eastward and westward passages, the former having made the fastest voyage from Queenstown to New York, her time being five days, fifteen hours and fifty-eight minutes. This victory over all other [illegible] player, and they remembered how Daboll had convulsed them with laughter only a short time ago, and wondered why such a very happy seeming man should have found life unendurable.

Daboll entered the profession by the front door, as the actor's saying goes. Up in Providence, where he was born and educated, he was the delight of the fashionable society as an amateur actor.

His father, head of the Daboll Manufacturing Company, was a well-to-do man and the son was received into the city's inner society circle. He was tireless in organizing amateur troops, and was one of the best players in the companies he organized.

About fifteen years ago, young Daboll went to New York and began earning a living by acting and singing. Financial affairs at home, it is said, made self-support necessary. There must have been some more impelling motive for he has so hard a struggle for eight or nine years that there were times when he was glad to sleep late in the morning and forget that there was no breakfast to be had.

In 1885 he made a mild success at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, in a farce called "Are You Insured?" It was enough of a success to attract attention from the Broadway theatres, and resulted in his engagement by the Casino. In the early spring of 1886 "Erminie" was rehearsed, Daboll receiving the part of the swaggering thief, Ravennes, and Francis Wilson the part of Cadeaux.

After weeks of rehearsal Daboll, on the very afternoon of the opening night, declared that he could do nothing with the part and positively refused to appear. It almost requires force to get him to the theatre.

Those who were at the Casino on that May night in 1886, saw what some theatrical people now assert to have been one of the few instantaneous and tremendous successes in the record of comic opera in the city. The feature of the success was the performance of Ravennes, by Daboll. It was a typical first-night audience, which is not overmuch given to enthusiasm but it "rose at" Daboll almost from the moment he swaggered down to the front, half dragging the terrified and cringing Caddy after him.

Daboll could sing too, and after their duet "Downy Jail Birds of a Feather" the recalls tired the two men out. Daboll did not then comprehend his hit. He honestly thought the applause was all meant for Wilson.

Wilson knew for him the applause was meant and generously told Daboll that it was he who had

"Caught the House."

Daboll could hardly believe it; but then came the praise of the papers, the scores of invitations to suppers that a successful comedian falls heir to, the seeking of his acquaintance and the nightly renewal of the applause, and he knew his professional reputation was made, and in that Mecca of all actors, an "up-town house."

Then there came the more substantial rewards. He had been engaged at $50 a week, but the figure ran up to $150 before "Erminie" was taken off the Casino stage. He seemingly enjoyed his social popularity more than his advanced value from box office view point.

The majority of theatre-goers who return to their homes after the curtain is rung down have no notion of the sprightly minority whose day's pleasures only begins with the theatre hour. With the minority Daboll soon became a great favorite, and, as total abstinence is unrecognized as a virtue by this night-hawk element, the popular comedian had soon cultivated a lively appreciation of the delights of as sung by Eugene Field. Drinking—hard and late drinking—soon became a habit with Daboll, but it was not until the second year of the run of "Erminie" that it began to interfere with his performance.

But after a time it became necessary to resort to familiar stage tricks to conceal Ravennes' condition from the audience, for he appeared more frequently and more noticeably confused. Another thing was happening to detract from the great success of Daboll. Francis Wilson, from the first performance to the last, was working hard to improve the part of Cadeaux, and little by little he gained for himself applause which had at first all Gone to Ravennes.

Daboll played out the wonderful run of two years, going on the road part of the time, while Marx Smith played Ravennes at the Casino, and at the end of the run, May, 1888, he left the company. He was going, he said, to perfect a new kind of railroad switch, which he had done some desultory work on, but at the expiration of a year he returned to the Casino and accepted an engagement to play the leading part in "The Brigands."

The management hesitated some about engaging him. He attended rehearsals regularly until two weeks before the date of the opening, and then suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. Ed Stevens was engaged for the abandoned part, and played it.

For a year after this Daboll dropped almost entirely out of sight, only occasional items appearing in the papers of his "eccentricities," and he went to Chicago and played a season in "Extravaganza," under the management of David Henderson. He then went back to New York and sought an engagement, but was unable to obtain one.

He first made his mark at the Boston Theatre, with Blanch Roosevelt in the "Masque of Pandora." Later he appeared with great success with Salisbury's Troubadours, being one of the principal figures in nearly all of their memorable productions.

He was especially happy in light comedy, singing solos; nevertheless, one of the best things he did was an old-man character part in the 'Lights o' London," but his greatest hit was in "Erminie."

His health had been poor for the last two or three years, and this fact compelled him to relinquish an engagement which he had previously accepted to play in Nell Burgess' 'Circus' in Boston last spring.

He had been improving of late, and has been rehearsing for some time, with the pleasant prospect of a prosperous season before him.

G. H. LEE'S STORY.

He Did Not Run Away From St. John, But He Confesses That He Violated Trusts.

G. H. Lee, of St. John N. B., who has rigidly denied himself to the newspaper men in regard to the lamentable plight in which he has been cast, was found Wednesday at Young's Hotel, Boston, and after considerable hesitation and amid some trepidation, unbosomed himself. He was first asked as to the truth of the statement in the St. John despatch, to the effect that he left home owing estates and persons, sums amounting to $100,000.

"Oh, that is all wrong," he exclaimed. "That is an estimate more than double the correct figure."

"Will you not state what that figure is?"
